Contributions to Medical...

Contributions to Medical Community

Making contributions to the medical community in an organized manner exposes you to information that can benefit your own practice (must be relevant to family medicine practice). These learning experiences may include the following:

- Committee participation
- Serving as an examiner
- · Reviewing manuscripts for medical journals
- Pearls.ce/ARC tutoring

You may claim up to 75.0 Mainpro-M1 credits per five-year cycle for any combination of activities in this category. Once you have reached the limit, claim 1.0 Mainpro-M2 credit per hour
