As our aging population continues to grow, so too does the need for Family Physicians to know more about hearing loss.

Approximately 3 Million Canadians Suffer From Hearing Loss
That's 1 out of every 10 people!

It may come as a surprise that 19% of Canadian adults under the age of 70 experience hearing loss that negatively affects their ability to hear speech.

This number rises dramatically in older adults, with three-quarters of men and two-thirds of women experiencing significant hearing loss between the ages of 80 and 85.
